A graduate of California State University Long Beach holding a Master of Arts degree, Richard Frinier has been a product designer in the home industries since 1977, with emphasis on indoor/outdoor furniture for the resort-at-home and ultra-luxe resort living experience. He has worked for and collaborated with manufacturers domestically and abroad, including Glen Raven/Sunbrella® textiles, Dedon, Brown Jordan, Century Furniture and others. His broad range of work encompasses hundreds of collections and thousands of individual product designs, which have been specified for royal palaces, public spaces, contract environments, resorts, spas and private residences around the world. These designs have been extensively exhibited and published internationally.

The Hemisphere Collection invites one to relax in the sun or gaze the moon and stars. Hemisphere – flexible, open, trendsetting. A new dimension of spaciousness. HEMISPHERE offers room to live, room for reflection. HEMISPHERES and semicircles that turn on their own axes enable one to view the world from new perspectives. Melded together they remind us that we are also part of a whole.

HEMISPHERE is the perfect complement to the Orbit Collection's successful concept, which incorporates spacious comfort and flexibility in its own way. It's all in the name: the lounge chair and footstool reflect the northern and southern hemispheres that create a harmonious unity. Recessed casters enable quiet movement of the seating elements, which are rounded out by matching tables. A large cushion transforms the large coffee table into a footstool, without a cushion it can function as a tray.

DOMO & DEDON

In 2000, DOMO pioneered the launch of DEDON in Australia and had long stood as a leading stockist of their collection of high-quality outdoor furniture.

Founded in 1990, DEDON was the first company to weave synthetic fibre into luxury outdoor designs of the finest quality. Requiring the best weavers in the world, led DEDON to the Philippines and the Island of Cebu, whereby they commenced manufacturing. In partnership with DOMO, DEDON became a household name respected for its design excellence and enduring quality in Australia.

Thanks to this long-standing partnership, DOMO is excited to be able to offer an exclusive and limited range of in-stock DEDON products to our customers at never to be repeated prices.

As DOMO is no longer a licensed distributor for DEDON in Australia, we wish to clear all stock on hand.
